Scott David Durbin, 47, passed away Monday, April 11, 2011 in Madison Heights, Michigan. He was born and raised in Kilgore where he always considered himself to be home. His parents were Judy West and David Durbin who have preceded him. Scott attended Northbrook High School in Houston and graduated in 1981. Later on, He worked in a wide range of positions in the Heating and Cooling industry but because of his outgoing and honest personality, had a knack for sales. Scott also had several hobbies and was passionate about all of them. Particularly, he enjoyed hunting and fishing, working on his sports car, and developing and maintaining his beautiful saltwater fish tank. He is survived by his son, Jonathan Durbin, of Arlington, his daughter, Courtney Hurt, of Ann Arbor, Michigan and their mother, Brenda Durbin, of Arlington. He is also survived by his wife, Maureen Durbin, of Madison Heights, Michigan, and two stepchildren, Jazmin and Joe. Maureen and Scott were married in 2006. Other close living relatives include sisters Brooke Durbin and Amanda Durbin Hall, of Houston and Arlington, respectively. He will be missed by the numerous friends he has made in both Texas and Michigan. His final place of rest will be near a family-owned lake house in Oakwood where he spent many memorable summers with his beloved grandparents, C.P. and Mildred Durbin. Arrangements with J. Gilbert Purse Funeral Home, Adrian, MI.
